Dear Gavin

We are happy to confirm that since you have applied Thermoshield coating to the roof surface of our shed the temperature in our building has been reduced substantially. We found that the inside temperature difference is in excess of 12°C. after application.

During the summer months the excessive heat radiated from the corrugated iron roof increased the temperature inside to a level where working conditions became extremely uncomfortable. As a result the shed area became almost impossible to be active in, and since the application of Thermoshield the temperature has been reduced to normal. In addition to the improvement of working conditions, it has also had a direct benefit on the condition of our salad products.

I have no hesitation in recommending Thermoshield as an extremely effective product, and can testify that the temperature reductions are in line with the printed data which was supplied to me prior to the application.

Best wishes,

PETER LOWE
